4 Ways Community College Life Differs From the 4-Year College Experience

Getting involved on campus at a community college may require more effort.

They Also Have the Same Requirements

9 THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT TITLE IX

1. Title IX is a landmark federal civil right that prohibits sex discrimination in education.
2. Title IX does not apply to female students only.
3. Schools must be proactive in ensuring that your campus is free of sex discrimination.
4. Schools must have an established procedure for handling complaints of sexual discrimination, harassment, or violence.
5. Schools should ensure that a victim doesn’t have to share spaces, such as dorms, classes and campus jobs, with his or her assailant.
6. Schools may not retaliate against someone filing a complaint and must keep a complainant-victim safe from other retaliatory harassment or behavior.
7. Schools can issue a no-contact directive under Title IX to prevent the accused student from approaching or interacting with you.
8. In cases of sexual violence, schools are prohibited from encouraging or allowing mediation (rather than a formal hearing) of the complaint.
9. Schools cannot discourage you from continuing your education.

B. 1-2 years
C. 2-4 years
D. More than 5 years
Sexual Violence Prevention/Activism in Context

- First Wave – Post-Slavery (1866 Memphis Riot)
  - Ida B. Wells, Anna Julia Cooper, Fannie Barrier Williams and the “Black Women’s Clubs” of the 1890s

- Second Wave – Civil Rights movements (Rosa Parks)
  - Committee for Equal Justice (1944)

- Third Wave – Coalitional Movement of the 1970s
  - Feminist Alliance Against Rape (FAAR) – 1974
  - Brownmiller’s “Against Our Will” published in 1975
  - Speak-outs, crisis centers, legal advancements
  - UMD establishes a Campus Rape Crisis Center in 1972
Sexual Violence Prevention/Activism in Context

- Fourth Wave – Activism & Cultural Awareness
  - The Clery Act (1990)
  - Passage of VAWA (1994)
  - Prevention programs
  - Social media
  - Dear Colleague Letter (2001)
  - Expansion of Title IX

Title IX

“No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.”
Community College Landscape

- Mixture of non-traditional & traditional population
- Open access admissions/campus
- Partnerships with community agencies
- High School Partnership Programs
- Community involvement and presence
- Diverse and disparate student needs
- Online and/or limited access to student populations
- Multiple campus locations
• Medium-size, public, non-residential community college in rural North Central Massachusetts
• 4,500 credit-seeking students (12,000 total)
• 69% female / 31% male
• <1% international; 25% students of color
• Small student services staff – 2 with higher education degrees/professional background
• 80% of students are Pell eligible, first generation and/or have a documented disability
Opportunities for Community Colleges

- Strong community partnerships and presence in service area
- Relationships with youth, elected leaders and state-level legislators
- Beacon of outreach efforts in a resource-limited area
- Focus on grant development and innovative programming
- Diversity of students, faculty and staff
- Civic engagement
Challenges to Consider

• High-risk and vulnerable populations
• Lack of mandatory orientation sessions
• Rolling admissions and various entry points for the institution
• How do you define “student” with respect to Title IX education and training?
• Conveying message that Title IX cases that happen off campus must also be investigated
Challenges to Consider

- Student history of trauma
- Financial resources
- Broad spectrum of student experiences and current status of students
- Delivery of content and message – how, when and to whom?
- Materials and educational programs are geared toward traditional-aged, residential colleges
- Lack of connection to college administration = hampers student reporting
Best Practices

- Blended orientation programs
- Specific programs for vulnerable populations that include family/guardian educational opportunities
- Intentional, year-long programming that is branded/marketed as part of your “anti-violence” curriculum
- Design your own messaging that depicts what your students look and talk like
- Re-imagine “Bystander Training” to fit your populations perspective
- Population-level programming (mandatory)
Best Practices

• Easily accessible, online resources with hyperlinks and photos of responsible employees and Title IX staff
• Online, public facing reporting options that allow students who are not “on ground” to report
• Curriculum infusion
• Importance of passive programming in high traffic areas
• Incorporation of “Dialogue Programming” that opens conversation on difficult issues and provides a platform for discussion and active learning on sensitive topics

“I WAS TALKING TO FRIENDS ABOUT A GUY I LIKE ON FACEBOOK. THEY TOLD ME I WAS BEING A FACEBOOK STALKER AND LAUGHED.

I told them stalking is a serious matter and we shouldn’t make light of dangerous behaviors.”

Elizabeth Niño
Los Banos College Student

“I RAN INTO A FRIEND AT A PARTY AND THEY HAD OBVIOUSLY BEEN DRINKING WAY TOO MUCH.

Their date was trying to take them into a room, but I told my friend I would take them home instead.

If someone is too drunk to give consent, then the answer is no.”
