AKJ: Hi Everyone! Thank you so much for joining us today.

TV: For audio over the phone, please call 866-866-2244, passcode 9053509#.

TV: Contact Adobe Connect support at https://helpx.adobe.com/adobe-connect/connect-support.html

KD: Minimum wage & pay equity. Universal child care

KJ: Affordable, quality housing

DD: Childcare and housing

TN: Affordable housing, pay day loans

JM: Childcare that is affordable, accessible, and quality.

AA: Text chat: What economic issues are most pressing your community that you would like to take action on through a gender-based violence prevention lens?

CY: wage gap, paid family leave, living wage, opposing predatory lending

AL: women’s role through the traditional lens, especially in culturally-specific/conservative/traditional communities that expect the woman to not work and be at home - thinking about parenting workshops, and how to inform families about managing their finances and ways to invest and plan for the future of their money

AH: Childcare, housing, and reliable public transportation.

CD: lack of employment opportunities, childcare, affordable housing and public assistance programs

PC: affordable housing, child care, employment opportunities for people without transportation, and better transportation that can connect cities and suburbs for job opportunities

AKJ: @Virginia thank you! It seems like the platform caught up with us. :)

AA: CDC technical packages: https://www.cdc.gov/violenceprevention/communicationresources/pub/technical-packages.html

JJ: lack of employment opportunities for clients with criminal backgrounds and lack of affordable housing

DS: Beth MS statement: Isn’t what we are working on is decreasing risk factor around harmful norms around masculinity and femininity?

AL: just want to say, this is so great! Thank you all for this presentation

CS: Yay Alejandra and Jenya!!!

AA: Wooo woooo!!!

TV: @Alejandra, so excited to learn from you today!

AKJ: these partnerships are so important!

DL: Alisha, I love your facilitation style, very effective, unobtrusive, gentle, and kind. You do a great job of setting up the speakers and gliding out of their way, and then popping back in to summarize. Lovely style.

AKJ: @Danielle I agree! Alisha is fabulous!

TV: @Danielle, Alisha is unable to respond, but wants me to tell you thank you! :)
And yes, totally agree, she’s great!

AS: You are all too kind!

AS: Only 25% of new immigrant families knew about the program in the 2015 poll. Very low!

DL: I’m inspired by the power and synergy of these two coalitions uniting their strengths to tackle these issues. I’m also pondering how to re-frame the really common notion (barrier) that paid family leave is a handout, and not a values-driven human right and tremendous benefit to a strong society. We really need to develop compelling re-frame.
DL: I can see how lack of knowledge about benefits/rights is a barrier to using paid family leave. Even those who know about paid leave, but works in low-wage probably also find it challenging (if not impossible) to take paid time off if they only get 80% or less of their full pay during their time off.

DL: Thanks JM--I'll check it out.

TV: Text Chat Question: How would you justify the development of tools on economic security and don’t mention healthy relationships of sexual violence prevention?

KM: You would have to walk people through the logic model to show your anticipated outcomes.

AL: I think almost precisely the way it’s been presented today. Connecting economic stresses and inequities with a lower quality of life that activates the amygdala and stress response in individuals that may lead to violent reactions that can be taken out on loved ones.

AS: I hope this web conference can be used to help make that case!

CY: promoting economic security reduces both vulnerability to victimization and motivation for perpetration of multiple forms of violence.

DL: Use that logic model with the research it’s based on.

AKJ: modeling healthy relationship skills in our coalition building and partnerships -- amazing!

AB: by making a cost benefit analysis for potential community partners

PR: Economic security is a common protective factor for so many issues.

AB: And since it is such a common factor think of the allies you could approach.

AKJ: @Amber I was thinking that too -- seems like there would be numerous opportunities.

AS: Thinking about diverse family structures is so important!

DS: Just noting that this is all related to leave related to children; I realize it may be important to stay focused on the topic but also noting the need for other kinds of paid leave or support for other care such as elder care or family members with health issues.

BC: Came on late from NYS and want to know if some of the research and models that seem to have been presented earlier can be shared post call?

TV: @Blue, you can find them on the slides here: http://www.preventconnect.org/wp-content/uploads/2019/08/From-paid-leave-to-rent-stabilization-FINAL.pdf
BC: Thank you! Exciting new perspectives I want to share with our state coalition

TV: This session is also being recorded and will be available soon. You will receive an email when the recording is online!

BC: Hi there. Heard the last part of your presentation. Exciting!

BC: Our agency is also involved in statewide organizing around affordable housing and tenant protections

DL: I am so excited that these issues are being lifted up and linked. Housing issues have been frighteningly damaging, really setting families who were otherwise high functioning back.

PR: Just cause is so important and so challenging to pass. Without that it is impossible to enforce other issues as you can get evicted if you complain about conditions and rent increases.

CS: To what extent does SB 608 impact Airbnb-type businesses in Oregon? We’re seeing a housing shortage linked to rentals being converted to short-term vacation rentals across our community.

CS: *residential rentals

AA: From Jenya for @Debra Seltzer: You are right. While we mentioned lifting up caregiving, we should have been more explicit about paid leave for elders and caregivers of individuals with serious health conditions. Part of our work is definitely to lift this up.

AA: Through the work with the Paid Family Leave Education & Outreach Workgroup, we are working to help educate and advocate for a more inclusive definition, especially around chosen family.

TV: National Low Income Housing Coalition: https://nlihc.org/

BC: Jenya, we are starting work in NY to also improve our state PFL law re family definition, portability, and outreach/education specifically for low income and immigrant workers.

TV: Sign up for our mailing list at http://www.preventconnect.org/
VV: didn't Oregon also pass a law that gave paid leave specifically to DV survivors? a year full of victories!

TV: @Virginia, yes!! Michele and Sybil briefly discuss the safe and sick leave in Oregon. Not sure if that's the same one

TV: *discuss on our podcast

CS: Thank you for all you work on the full range of caregiving

SH: :Yes - we are so excited about the new Oregon Paid Family and DVSA Safe Leave bill - we are grateful to Oregon Family Forward for incorporating paid DVSA safe leave into the bill! https://www.oregonlive.com/politics/2019/08/oregon-gov-signs-progressive-paid-family-and-medical-leave.html

DL: This webinar was absolutely fabulous. There’s so many resources, such bright and insightful guests. I learned a lot, and I’m inspired to take this into my local community. Thanks!

AS: Thanks!

AA: Hugs Danielle!!!

SH: Christina, We continue to be concerned about AirBnB, and are working on further regulation of those entities - - we think passage of 608 will make it harder for LLs to evict people in order to turn their rentals into Airbnb, because of the length of notice and relocation assistance that would be required to provide. We will continue to monitor this and continue to work o n Airbnb regulations. Apologies for the typos - my screen is jumping all around! I’m happy to chat further anytime if you want to reach out - shebb@oregonlawcenter.org

AA: Thanks everyone!

DL: Greetings and admiration, Alejandra!
