TV: Text Chat Question: How are you using community-specific risk and protective factors to inform your prevention efforts in rural areas?

KH: we partner with local rural/alternative schools to provide on-site advocacy and prevention education curriculum

TV: xslcawt marketing materials and FAQ sheet: <http://www.preventconnect.org/wp-content/uploads/2020/03/x%CC%8Cs%C9%ABcawt-FAQ.pdf>

CB: We provide advocacy, groups, and outreach at the schools/colleges. DV and SA advocates give presentations on many topics to spread awareness and education. We have outreach office hours/partnerships with the library and law enforcement. We have Hmong advocates that do a lot in their community as well.

TV: Text Chat Question: What ideas do you have for developing community buy-in, in rural communities in your area?

RF: We've found snacks are very successful when trying to develop community buy-in!

KH: We have facilitated mentoring programs, bystander intervention programs, and teen living classes for buy-in help.

TV: Text Chat Question: How will you advance sexual and intimate partner violence prevention in your rural communities?

KH: I love the idea of partnering with the humane society and offering art based activities!

JB: I had an issue with my mute button, but I'd like to add regarding the connection to other health issues! Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) is a current buzzword in WV and I think it speaks to the importance and addressing so many of these issues we talked about today. The science is really showing the importance of addressing all of these concerns together! For the health of our youth AND adults (:

KH: Thank you!!

PS: will you do certificates

TO: thank you!

TV: Yes, please full out our post web conference evaluation survey, which will be in your email inbox soon. There is a link to a certificate at the end of the survey

PS: thanks so much

CH: Thank you!
