What are some of your reasons for attending the web conference?

Ms. and Child Sexual Abuse Prevention

- Ending child sexual abuse has been part of the Ms. Foundation's longstanding commitment to ending violence against women and girls for 40 years
- In 2011, the Ms. Foundation launched a new pilot grant making program to support a cohort of leaders and organizations focused on long-term culture and policy change to prevent child sexual abuse

Ending Child Sexual Abuse Web Conference Series

- As part of this program, the Ms. Foundation partnered with PreventConnect to launch the National Ending Child Sexual Abuse Web Conference Series in 2012
- We welcome you to the third year of this web conference series in our efforts to build an online community working to end child sexual abuse

Principles of CSA prevention work in farm worker communities

- Pedagogy of the Oppressed-based principles
- Culturally responsive
- Community-based
- Limited CSA resources

Farm Workers in the United States

- Estimated 3 million Migrant/Seasonal Farm Workers
- Men, women and children
- Invisible in many communities
- Work in fields, agricultural processing plant and meat production

Considerations

- 1) Family Living Situation
- 2) Type of Agricultural Work
- 3) Children working along side adults

Cultural Norms

- ★ Taboos around sexuality
- ★ Gender role issues
- ★ Importance of family/community

Barriers

What is a barrier to child sexual abuse prevention in farm worker communities?
