AKJ: Hi everyone!!! Thanks for joining us today. We will be getting started at the top of the hour.

TV: You can download the PowerPoint slides for this session here: http://www.preventconnect.org/wp-content/uploads/2019/10/Shared-Vision-Shared-Work_10.17.2019.pdf

TV: For audio over the phone, please call 866-866-2244, passcode 9053509#.

RD: state government

TV: Text Chat Question: What do you see as the benefits of collaboration?

CL: more people, less duplication

MB: Different perspectives

PL: additional viewpoints and experiences

LS: multiple perspectives, approaches

TE: Shared resources and expertise, different connections to various populations

LM: Fresh eyes

EP: reach wider group of people

CV: Would like to further collaborate and learn other sources of educational resources

EF: More ideas regarding how to solve the problem.

AK: leveraged resources

SS: Collaboration is the key to getting viewpoints and needed resources!

JM: To build strength in the work we do

AB: I can't know everything and don't want to -

BCR: integration of efforts

BT: Because other people know more than me and I their knowledge can make me a better prevention specialist

AB: collaboration helps us all

JO: Collaboration allows us to hear different viewpoints and perspectives - there's not one single way to address the problem

KB: able to achieve greater impact; knowledge sharing; fostering accountability

TS: covering more ground

MT: Community efforts re a huge part of prevention

AB: no need to reinvent the wheel

MJ: Community accountability, increase protections from trauma risks, decreased risks of trauma --- end racism & gender-based violence

PS: prevent more. Support survivors and community better through more collaboration

KK: More partners/community members need to be involved to champion the efforts and increase effectiveness and sustainability

PS: Influence cultural shifts more towards anti-oppression, etc.

AB: I am grateful for all of their resources. I was grateful to have attended NSAC and saw Colorado(?) coalition discussing working prevention along with individuals working in suicide prevention - amazing!

AKJ: @Ana oh yes! We highlighted that work on a previous PreventConnect web conference too!

TV: Text Chat Question: Who are you currently partnering with to advance your prevention efforts?

LM: Connecting with hospitals in our area

TE: Local nonprofit for violence prevention

MH: We partner with our rape crisis centers to go into the schools in the communities.

JK: County Health Depts., Healthy Start Coalition

EL: employers/foundations/victim service

MN: I am working with bars for a healthy nightlife

CL: WA AG's office, King County Prosecutor's Office, Organization for Prostitution Survivors, Businesses Ending Slavery and Trafficking, Seattle Against Slavery and Center for Children and Youth Justice

BT: I am partnering with the local university, high schools and exploring the option of partnering with marijuana dispensaries

AB: I applied and interviewed for my city's planning commission o

JG: Rape crisis centers, SARTS, schools, churches, and internal security trainings and community health improvement

KS: Technology companies to come up with localized solutions to technology abuse

JM: Schools, law enforcement, faith based, mental and substance abuse centers

MJ: Are there risks (e.g. complicity) and how can those risks be balanced with meaningful community accountability, when engaging with a powerful sector (e.g., professional sports team)?

KP: We are funded by Blue Shield to do IPV prevention with a workforce development org, a child abuse/family violence org, a media org, and a city dept. (us). We're also hoping to bring in other sectors. We are focusing on the Bay view neighborhood of SF.

PS: Neighborhood block clubs, city district managers, and city department of general services

KP: @Monte I'm really interested in this question because we were talking about engaging sports (ex. Warriors) since one of our orgs works with them for workforce development.

MJ: @Kyoko isn't it tricky? My email is monte@svlawcenter.org if you want to connect and discuss at some point . . . brainstorm.

PS: Community development agencies, Greening agencies, law enforcement,

KP: @Monte, yes would love to connect at some point. My email is kyoko.peterson@sfgov.org

AB: Learning other's limitation through their implementation process is amazing for others to strategize around through their process. Excellent learning all around!

AB: Why I love research - it aims to build upon the breadth and wealth of information

SS: will we also get access to recoding of this

AKJ: We will send out a link to the recording to all registrants

TV: Text Chat Question: What are your ideas for reframing and/or rephrasing prevention work to find shared language and values with other sectors?

LS: How do you manage information sharing when our perspectives on confidentiality are different?

AB: Interagency Referral forms

PS: We recently realized that using IPV, risk and protective factors was not simple language for many partners so we are now thinking of ways to convey this information in different and more simple and more relatable terms- social or community connectedness helps decrease violence with examples.

EP: @Loren NNEDV has some resources on that on their website, via techsafety.org. they have a yearly conference on confidentiality.

AKJ: @Phalguna yes! I think making our language accessible to more of the community is so necessary

AKJ: Do our partners really need to know the social ecological model or do they just need to understand the concept, which they probably already do, based on their own work and experience!

AKJ: That's just an example, but we use a lot of language that doesn't necessarily mean anything outside of our offices
