A Gender Lens on COVID-19: Pandemics and Violence against Women and Children

- ▶ From the Center for Global Development
- ▶ <https://www.cgdev.org/blog/gender-lens-covid-19-pandemics-and-violence-against-women-and-children>

Pathways can be both direct & indirect, and are likely to interact, reinforcing existing vulnerabilities (inequalities). Pathways are not exhaustive & will depend on type of pandemic & contextual factors, including underlying gender norms & levels of VAW/C.

Masculinities and COVID-19

- ▶ Loneliness and social isolation
- ▶ Gender norms and expectations around power and control
- ▶ Men's voices dominate government responses to COVID-19

Coronavirus reveals just how deep macho stereotypes run through society

Racial Justice and COVID-19

- ▶ Structural racism and other forms of structural oppression have created inequitable community conditions and are root causes of public health and safety problems
- ▶ Black, Brown, and Indigenous communities are being hit hard by the virus as well as other conditions that can increase the risk for violence
- ▶ We must advocate for racial justice policies and solutions

WHAT DOES GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE PREVENTION LOOK LIKE IN THE FACE OF COVID-19?

Date: Friday, 27 March 2020

By Casey Keene, Director of Programs & Prevention for the National Resource Center on Domestic Violence

Despite the fear, despair, and uncertainty our communities are experiencing, there is an abundance of connectedness, support, and hope. And while the scope and impact of COVID-19 has been unprecedented, so has been the outpouring of community care, deep concern about the varying adverse impacts on our siblings across the globe, and efforts to take tangible action to support each other's well-

INFORMATION ON COVID-19 FOR SURVIVORS, COMMUNITIES, AND DV/SA PROGRAMS

People who are surviving violence in their relationships and families may be experiencing increased isolation and danger caused by social distancing measures during the Coronavirus pandemic. Survivors often have specific needs around safety, health and confidentiality. We also realize that people who are already more vulnerable to economic and health insecurity are facing additional challenges during this unprecedented time. We have compiled resources and tools for more vulnerable members of our communities and care providers, who are working tirelessly to respond in ways that are safe and supportive for all.

We are updating these resources continuously. If you have information to share, please contact the National Health Resource Center on Domestic Violence at health@futureswithoutviolence.org, with the subject line "COVID19 Resource."

The outbreak of COVID-19 has created a lot of anxiety & uncertainty for us. Take a moment to ground yourself. Are you taking care of you? #WellnessWednesday #SAAM be mindful

NOW

Breathe In, Breathe Out - Feel the flow of the breath

Be Aware of every Daily Activity (driving, texting, cleaning, etc.)

Pay attention to all your Senses - for ex; notice the taste, texture of food.

Go Outdoors - Walk Around in Nature

Empty the Mind - Take a few moments to be still

Forgive Yourself for every Negative Thought

As soon as the Mind wanders, bring it back to your Breath

Be Grateful - Say Thank You to Nature, People and Things.

Practice Non-Judgemental Listening

Go Easy on Yourself - with time, you will see the progress!

close2home_slo Over the next few days, Close to Home will be highlighting local stories of people impacted by the shelter at home order. This series focuses on the local service industry and stories of employees, managers, and owners of some beloved SLO spots. One of our adult volunteers, @feastsonfoote, spent the majority of last week reaching out to and interviewing folks, and summarized those interviews in the videos you will begin seeing today!
